BOLD ROBBERY OF A LAKE SHORE TRAIN.

THEY MAKE A BIG HAUL.

The Gang Numbered Twenty-Five—Dynamite Used On the Express Car.

KENDALLVILLE, Ind., Sept. 13.—Lake Shore express train No. 14, the New York express, was held up and robbed by twenty desperadoes at Kelsersiding, west of here, and 140 miles from Chicago, just after midnight yesterday morning, one express car blown up with dynamite, the safe blown open and the engineer shot through the shoulder. The robbers, according to the best figures obtainable here from train men, but denied, as usual, by express officials, secured $300,000, of which $250,000 is said to have belonged to a Chicago bank and was being sent to New York.

As the train was passing through a stretch of timber land near the siding, the engineer saw a red light ahead and slowed up. As the red light drew nearer the engineer saw the group of men. In front of the light the train came to a stop when a dozen men sprang into the cab and leveled rifles at the heads of the engineer and fireman with the order, "Throw up your hands."

The fireman lifted his arms at once, but the engineer with a cry of warning on his lips turned toward the passenger coaches. A dozen rifles were quickly turned toward the plucky fellow and a dozen shots startled the passengers who had been awakened by the sudden stopping of the cars. The engineer, named Knapp, had one hand on throttle and attempted to start the train. One of the desperadoes pushed a big revolver against his shoulder and fired. The bullet passed clear through, tearing a hole in which a lead pencil could be laid.

The next moment there was a terrific explosion. The robbers had put dynamite under the train, and as the stillness of the lonely place was broken the express car cracked and split and showed a huge gash in its side.

The conductor and the brakeman hurried to the platform only to be covered by Winchester in the hands of the men, who said they would shoot to kill if a move was made. The railroad men became motionless and dumb. A guard was put at the end of each car and the express car was attacked.

The messenger behind his barricaded door refused to obey the command of the robbers to open the car door. Shot after shot was fired at the car but the robbers soon saw they could gain no entrance by intimidation. They were prepared for this resistance and seizing engineer and fireman they used them as bucklers. The messenger then surrendered. He was soon disarmed and with a blow on the head leveled on the floor senseless.

Half a dozen of the twenty men then looted the express car. Dynamite was again used in opening the safe and the thieves used their own time in taking everything they thought worth carrying away. The booty included several large packages marked $1,000, $2,000 and so on. These were carefully examined before they were stored away.

The guards at the doors of the passenger coaches were called off, a few parting shots were fired—perhaps in the air—to warn those on the train that pursuit meant death, and the band of robbers disappeared in the wooded stretch of land that skirts the railroad.

AN INGENIOUS "COX."

One in Sedalia Turns Out a Patent Clothes Dryer.

A conductor on the south end of the "Katy," whose home is in Southeast Sedalia, is quite an ingenious fellow when it comes to making little conveniences about the house for his wife, and when at home he is always more or less engaged in such work.

His latest achievement is a clothes dryer. He has a large family, and it takes considerable yard space, when their clothes are hung out in the usual way, entailing more labor than he thought his wife should undergo, so he put his wits to work to devise a plan whereby this could be overcome, and he has succeeded admirably.

Last week he ordered a lot of lumber and several hundred feet of small wire, and went to work on his dryer, while the neighbors looked on and wondered what he was doing. It took himself and two other men a day to finish the job, but it is done. The dryer is built on the plan of a "merry-go-round," and when the clothes are placed on it, it discounts one of them in speed. It soon dries the clothes, and the fortunate wife is the envy of her neighbors.

LEWIS IN TROUBLE.

A Barkeeper Arrested and Taken to Callaway County.

Jack Lewis, late employed as a barkeeper at Joe Sewell's Ohio street saloon, was arrested at 6 o'clock last night by Marshal Delong and Sheriff W. H. Windsor, of Callaway county, and committed to jail until midnight, when he was taken to Fulton by the latter officer.

Lewis formerly lived in Callaway county, and it is alleged that some time ago he raised a disturbance by discharging his pistol at a church meeting, after which he left that section and came to Sedalia.

Sheriff Windsor arrived here at 3:25 o'clock yesterday afternoon and laid the matter before Chief Delong, who made the arrest at Main and Ohio streets at the hour above stated.

THE WORK OF FIENDS.

Attempt to Derail a Passenger Train on the "Katy" Failed.

A dastardly attempt was made to wreck passenger train No. 4, on the Missouri, Kansas & Texas road, Monday night, at what is known as the Swinney bridge, one mile south of Fayette.

A railroad tie was placed on the beams between the ties on the bridge. Fortunately a heavy freight struck the tie before the passenger train came along, and thus probably saved the loss of many lives. Several ties on the bridge were torn up.

It was a narrow escape, as the banks are very steep at that point.

Beautiful Flowers.

Mrs. John D. Crawford is an ardent lover of flowers and has a large and rare collection. Last night her night blooming cereus was in full bloom, delighting the eye with its delicate beauty and filling the parlors with its fragrance. It is certainly refreshing to see anything so beautiful, and several of Mrs. Crawford's friends enjoyed that pleasure last night.

The annual conference of the colored M. E. church began in Lincolnville today. Last night, Mrs. Lena Mason, the "Black Sam Jones of Missouri," preached to another large audience, her remarks commanding the closest possible attention of her auditors.

THROUGH A BRIDGE.

An Accident to Rev. Black and Wife, Former Sedaltians.

Rev. R. D. Black and wife, formerly of this city, are thus referred to in the Kearney, Neb., Herald:

Rev. R. D. Black, pastor of the First M. E. church of this city, accompanied by his wife, while crossing the bridge over the tail race on Twenty-fifth street last night shortly after 8 o'clock, met with quite a serious mishap. About the hour named the pastor and his wife had started for West Kearney to perform a marriage ceremony and while crossing this bridge, the horse moving at a lively trot, both wheels on the right side of the buggy dropped instantly and simultaneously into a big crack.

The sudden drop of the carriage to one side caused Mr. Black to pitch forward on the dash board, and at the same time the whiffletree and shafts were broken, one end striking Mr. Black over the left eye, making a serious gash and bruising the flesh. Other portions of the face and nose received bruises, and he was rendered almost insensible, but he kept hold of the lines and stopped the horse. Mrs. Black was frightened and screamed loudly. Her cries were heard by Mr. and Mrs. Juan Boyle and Miss Stewart, who came to the rescue at once and rendered every assistance possible.

As soon as they were freed they went over to Mr. Curry's residence and secured his carriage and went on to West Kearney, where he performed the marriage ceremony, with his face still covered with blood.

Wesley Was Released.

A stranger giving the name of John Wesley was arrested last night as a suspicious character, owing to the fact that he had no less than three watches and a dozen watch chains in his possession, which he was anxious to dispose of. He stated that he was a cook by occupation, and had come from the Cherokee strip. He made a satisfactory explanation as to how he became possessor of the jewelry and was released.

A SHOP RUINED BY WATER.

A BURSTED TANK RUINS E. WEISE'S BARBER SHOP.

All Night Long the Water Poured Down, Flooding the Shop and Running Upon the Walk.

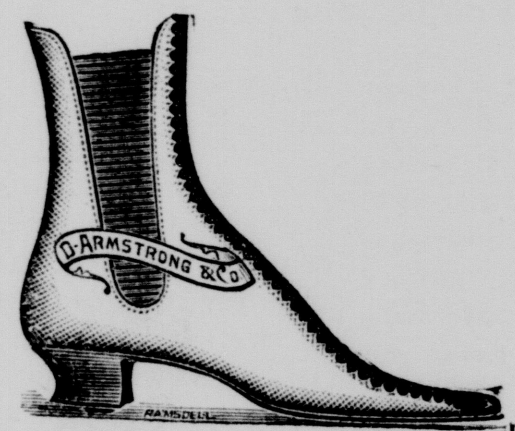

Ernest Weise's barber shop, on West Second street, was damaged by water to the extent of two or three hundred dollars last night.

Above the shop are the bath rooms, adjacent to which was a large boiler-iron tank, with a capacity of 250 gallons. The tank has been in position only a few days, but last night, after the shop was closed, it bursted where it is riveted at the bottom, and from that time until daylight a continual stream of water poured out upon the floor, as the supply pipe that led to the tank was not shut off.

The water soaked through the crevices in the floor and ran down into the barber shop, covering the floor to the depth of more than an inch, and then flooded out upon the walk. The ceiling was badly damaged, and the handsome new paper that was put on only last week was totally ruined. Three of the barber chairs were soaked with water, and it may be that they will have to be re-upholstered.

The break was not discovered until 6 o'clock this morning, when a passerby noticed the water pouring out upon the sidewalk and

The tank was purchased of Barley Bros., second hand, but was warranted, it is said, to stand a direct pressure. It failed to do so, however, and the wreckage chronicled above followed, with no insurance.

NEWS OF THE RAIL.

THE "KATY" MAKES A CUT OUT OF CLINTON, MO.

WILL AFFECT FAIR RATES.

Items of Interest Picked Up for the Benefit of Readers of the "Democrat."

A little rate war that started at Clinton a few days ago between the Kansas City, Osceola and Southern and the Kansas City, Fort Scott and Memphis, on purely local business between Clinton and Kansas City, has extended so that the Chicago rate is now affected.

Yesterday the Missouri, Kansas and Texas railway made an open rate of $10 for the round trip between Clinton and Chicago. A party of about eighty-five had been made up to go via the Memphis line to Kansas City and the Santa Fe line Kansas City to Chicago. A Clinton dispatch says: This party were to buy tickets at the regular rates, with the promise of a rebate when they reached Chicago. The Missouri, Kansas and Texas found the business was going that way on account of the secret cut in rates and they met the rate openly. The Memphis and Santa Fe now advertise the same rate and will meet any rate made over the Missouri, Kansas and Texas.

The Missouri, Kansas and Texas is perhaps the choice line out of Clinton for Chicago, for it has a traffic alliance with the Burlington at Hannibal, by which that company hauls the Missouri, Kansas and Texas trains, or part of them, between Hannibal and Chicago. Thus people going to Chicago can go over the Missouri, Kansas and Texas and Burlington and fare as well as anyone could wish.

There are some encouraging signs just now of the complete demoralization of World's fair rates. An advertisement by the Santa Fe company in a Topeka paper the other day, to the effect that members of the Kansas choruses who went to Chicago on the Santa Fe would be admitted to the World's fair free, amounts to a 50 cent cut in the rate.

The Santa Fe is charged with paying to a party of these choruses at Leavenworth through a leading shipper $150 in order to induce them to cancel a contract they had with the Burlington to go over that road and go by the Santa Fe instead. In answer to these charges the Santa Fe says the free admission to the members of the Kansas choruses attending the fair to participate in the celebration of Kansas week is an arrangement of the directors, with which they have nothing to do, and as for the payment of $150 to secure the Leavenworth chorus, they know nothing of it.

A FRIGHTENED BRAKEMAN.

The Experience of Claude Burgess at Clinton, Mo.

Claude Burgess, the fat and jolly brakemen of Conductor Ross' crew of the south end of the "Katy," had an experience Monday night in Clinton that he will not soon forget.

Sells Bros.' circus was there that day, and in the evening Conductor Ross was sent from Sedalia to bring the circus train to this city. It was after midnight before they began to make up the train. It was very dark, and Claude went between two cars to make a coupling, aided only by the glimmer of his lantern.

As he started in he noticed that the door in the end of one of the cars, near the roof, was open, but he thought nothing of it. While trying to send the pin "home," he felt something clammy and cold creeping over his face. His first impression was that the car contained the big snakes of the show, and one of them had escaped from its box and was trying to get away. He thought also that his time to join the silent majority had come, unless he could get away from the coils of the serpent, that seemed to be tightening its grasp about him.

He dropped the pin, and jumped from his perilous position, giving vent to a yell that brought his fellow trainmen on the run to his aid, for they thought he had been hurt by the cars. He flashed his lantern toward the place from which the creeping thing had emerged, expecting to see the writhing body of the snake, but, instead, he saw the trunk of the biggest elephant carried by the show, which, no doubt, was laughing to itself over the scare it had given the "brakey." Burgess would not go between the cars again, but found a stick to guide the pin while making the coupling.

Trouble on the Big Four.

A strike of gigantic proportions on the Cincinnati, St. Louis and Chicago (Big Four) railroad system now seems unavoidable.

About two weeks ago President M. E. Ingalls, of that company, ordered a cut in the wages of the trainmen, 3,500 in number. This reduction will be met by stubborn resistance by the men, who emphatically declare that they will fight Ingalls' order to the point of a general strike if such action becomes necessary.

The strongest evidence of their sentiment against the reduction is a thorough organization of the trainmen into a confederation, which was secretly effected at Mattoon, Ill., September 3. At that meeting every man was represented in person or by proxy, and there was not one dissenting vote against its formation.

A grievance committee numbering 58 men is now in Cincinnati, and submitted an ultimatum to President Ingalls refusing positively to accept the cut.

Regarding the Rail.

The "Katy" flyer from the south came in five hours late this morning.

W. T. Fisher, traveling auditor for the Missouri Pacific, visited Boonville today.

M. K. & T. train No. 3, from the north, came in one and one-half hours late again this morning.

Conductor John Gaffney, formerly of this city, is now running out of Bloomington, on the C. & A., and likes his run exceedingly well.

There were two sections of Missouri Pacific passenger train No. 3 west this morning, owing to the heavy travel to the Cherokee strip.

General Passenger Agent James Barker, of the M. K. & T., left St. Louis yesterday for Chicago and the east. He will be absent for two weeks.

U. G. Stevens, night mail transfer clerk at the depot, has gone to the Cherokee strip, and R. T. Judd is temporarily performing the duties of the position.

It is believed the M. K. & T. will be induced to remain in the Southwestern Traffic association on the same compromise that was made with the Santa Fe.

The local division of the Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers have leased the second story of Hoffman Bros.' East Fifth brick block and will fit it up in first-class shape for a lodge room.

"Shady" Burnap, the popular "Katy" conductor, has a pretty little daughter at his home, borne a couple of days ago. No father in Sedalia has a finer family of girls than "Shady."

M. Griffin, of the passenger department of the Missouri Pacific, St. Louis, is here today, arranging for his excursion to Kansas City on Sunday, the 24th, when the fare will be $1.50 for the round trip.

The Missouri Pacific has issued orders for the closing of the following stations on the Kansas City, Boonville and Lexington branch: Malta Bend, Napton, Stanhope and Lamine, and also New Palestine, on the Boonville, St. Louis and Southern. This is a measure of retrenchment.

General Manager Doddridge, of the Missouri Pacific, said yesterday: "Nothing appears to be so much needed now, both east and west, as hearty co-operation among the managers of railway and express companies to render train robbing a dangerous feature of crime in this country. We traverse magnificent distances and cannot keep the tracks patrolled throughout, but speedy measures must be adopted to protect life and property, and prompt punishment should be dealt out to all scoundrels who hold up a train."

A vote for Cummings is a vote for harmony.

A MOST BEAUTIFUL BRIDE.

COMPLIMENTARY WORDS FOR A SEDALIA LADY.

The Quincy Herald's Reference to the Hatch-Lyon Marriage Here.

Dr. Henry Hatch and Miss Emma Lyon were married at the home of the bride's parents in Sedalia, Mo., at 11 o'clock this morning, says the Quincy, Ill., Herald of the 6th inst.

This is no surprise to anybody unless it be the doctor himself. Everybody else has noticed his devotion to the fair lady for nearly a twelve-month, and wagers that it would be a wedding found no takers, even at long odds.

Miss Lyon is one of the handsomest young women that ever wore diamonds. She has spent much of her time since the death of the first Mrs. Hatch as a member of the doctor's household, where she reigned as queen.

Quincy's young men admired and adored the divinity from a distance, the doctor taking good care that no rival should approach within dangerous range of the fair one's charms.

Naturally there will be envy mingled with congratulation that the good doctor could carry off this lovely prize. But he would indignantly repudiate the insinuation that he is not as young as anyone, and doubtless he feels so today.

There is somewhat of a romance about the attachment. The relations of Dr. Hatch and Miss Lyon's families have been of the warmest character for years. When he went to Europe to study medicine, Mrs. Hatch was made to feel that the Lyon home was hers, and the gratitude for their kindness was never forgotten by the doctor. It was even thought that there existed a blood relationship, but that is not true. The doctor has known his bride and been in closest relations with her family during all her life. During her stay in Quincy he lavished every attention upon her and grew so devoted that the happy marriage was long since a foregone conclusion.

Some months ago the Herald contained an innocent little item to the effect that the birds were saying that Dr. Hatch and Miss Lyon were to wed. The doctor emphatically insisted that the item was not true and demanded a correction. This he wrote himself and it was published as follows:

"What the birds say: The item published in yesterday morning's Herald, with the above head, speaking of Dr. Henry Hatch, we find upon investigation to be untrue, and therefore correct it in justice to the parties concerned."

All of which goes to show that even though a man does not know that he is going to be married, if he sees it in the Herald it is so.

They will be home the latter part of this week, and will be greeted with the sincerest congratulations and good wishes. Dr. Hatch is one of Quincy's most popular practitioners and ranks high in the profession. He is the confidential physician of many of our leading families and has earned by study and devotion to his work a handsome practice and high reputation. The bride is beautiful in face and figure and endowed with such graces of person as fall to the lot of few. She will be an active spirit in society here and will be welcomed heartily to the ranks of Quincy's social leaders.

The Famine Continues.

The famine in white sugar, alluded to by the DEMOCRAT a few days ago, still continues, with a large number of merchants, who attribute the scarcity to the closing of the refineries, with a small supply on hand. The resumption of the Havermyer refinery in New York leads them to believe that the worst is over.

LINES IN THE HAND.

Reading the Character, the Future, and the Past by Them.

Square or spatulated fingers, in the science of palmistry, denote the philosophical and practical temperament. Taper fingers signify an artistic temperament, and very pointed digits are a sign of the dreamy, psychical nature. Much is learned by the general quality and configuration of the hand and palm as well as by the lines which cross the latter. The life line running around the base of the thumb denotes long or short life, good or ill health, according as it is long or short, clear and unbroken or otherwise. The "heart line" running across the palm nearest the base of the fingers, signifies the quality of the possessor's emotional nature, also the kind of love she will give and receive. This will be enduring or temporary according to whether the line be long and clear, forked or crossed and chained. Below this is the head line, which indicates the mental and moral qualities and achievements and deficiencies. The line of fate runs perpendicularly across the middle of the palm and is a very important factor in the happiness or unhappiness of its owner. It should be clear and narrow, unchained and unbroken by the fine wrinkles which score so many palms, and it should never come to an end on the line of the heart, since this signifies disappointment in love. A cross on the "Mount of Mercury," which is just at the base of the fore or index finger, is an unfailing sign of a happy marriage.

A GIRL IN A BEAR'S DEN.

A Couple of Strange Creatures Found in the Jungles of India.

A highly respectable Indian gentleman, a member of the Bombay Anthropological society—Mr. Sarat Chandra Mitra—has come forward with an apparently well authenticated story of a girl who has been discovered in Jalpaiguri in the den of a bear. The young person's habits were decidedly bearish, for she tried to bite and scratch those who came near her, went down "on all fours" for locomotion and "growled at meals." The orphanage of the New Dispensation church, in Calcutta, could make nothing of the ferocious foundling, who has consequently been removed to Bas Aram, a refuge founded and supported by Brahmo gentlemen in that city.

Nor is this all. A Bhagal Zemindar has captured in the jungle a wild boy, whose only approach to speech is the utterance of chattering sounds like those of a monkey. Colonel Sleeman and the Rev. Mr. Lewis, of the Secundra church mission, have vouched for similar stories. Mr. Mitra is of the opinion that when, as sometimes happens, an infant is abandoned in the bush, there is nothing absurd in the idea that it might be adopted by a female wild animal that had lost her young.

A Relentless Creditor.

A creditor seldom goes so far as to seize a coffin about to be carried to the grave. But this happened in the open street in Berlin a few days ago, and created considerable excitement and great indignation. A cabinet-maker's wagon had just stopped in front of a house near the Alexander platz in the German capital with a coffin for the wife of a locomotive engineer who had died. As the coffin was about to be borne into the house an official of the court appeared, placed his seal upon the coffin box, and ordered it transferred to the Berlin pawn office. The official had acted on behalf of a relentless creditor. The engineer pleaded in vain for the coffin. The record failed to say whether he succeeded in getting another.

Saving a Grave.

An unmarried woman possessed of considerable wealth, who died last week in a town in Pennsylvania, was buried in a grave that was dug nine years ago. Her father was buried in it originally, and after two years his body was exhumed and placed in a vault. It was a principal of the family never to spend money uselessly, and the daughter, realizing that she would need a grave sometime, decided that filling up the grave would be a waste of good money, and ordered that it be kept open for her. When the not-too-long-delayed day came (she was then 81 years of age), the grave was found to be a half dozen inches too short. It was lengthened and the interment was made.

How Air Resists a Locomotive.

Experiments made by the scientists appointed for that purpose by the French government, show that the resistance of the atmosphere to the motion of a high speed train often amounts to half the total resistance which the locomotive must overcome. Two engines, of which the resistance was measured repeatedly and found to be nineteen pounds per ton at thirty-seven miles per hour, were coupled together and again tried. In the second trial the resistance fell to fourteen pounds per ton, the second engine being shielded from atmospheric resistance by the first. It strikes me that there is an idea for some inventor half unmasked in this item.

Chumps.

A man killed himself in Philadelphia and left his body to a medical college. This was his dying message, written on a postal card: "A chump for Dissection—Professor: Cut my body up to show the young cranks how a chump is made. I have been a chump ever since I became a man. I owe nobody anything. I have no money, and no friends. Don't let my friends have my body.—A Chump." This man may have been a chump, but it is doubtful if it is one of the paradoxes of life, that when a man knows he is a chump he is not a chump.

NOT THE MOVING KIND.

Tom Edwards, a Georgia Free Citizen, and His Home.

Bishop Atticus G. Haygood, writing from Oxford, Ga., tells a little story, which points a moral. He writes: "Tom Edwards lives within three miles of Oxford. Years ago I knew him as a careful, thrifty citizen. While president of Emory college I bought from him chickens, eggs, butter, honey and fruits in their season. His start was humble, but he was diligent and patient and also had foresight."

"Yesterday my family had a little picnic on his place. He has twenty acres, most of it light gray land. There is some creek bottoms. He raises some cotton enough to buy what he and his family must have that they can't raise. Whatever people or stock need to eat Tom Edwards raises at home. I saw fruit trees, well kept; a beautiful vineyard of an acre or more and full of grapes; along a ditch a row of fig trees; a long, low shelter, for many colonies of bees; good barns in good shape; a pretty herd of grade Jerseys, fat and sleek, and grass in the meadows to keep them; well stocked fish ponds, from which they catch fish for the table. Chickens thrive under their care. Sugar and cane he can't raise, else he would do it. How peaceful that home! How free from care they seemed to be! I was restless to look at them and talk to them. Such men do not want to go away. Such men are not scared out of sleep by the story of broken banks. They are an honor to our state. They are its mainstay. To Tom Edwards, free citizen, I raise my hat."

A GIRL'S TRANCE.

Curious Case of Cataplexy in the County Cavan, Ireland.

A remarkable case of cataplexy, of which a young woman of about 19 years of age is the subject, is reported. In a lonely glen in the County Cavan, a widow named Mrs. Anne Kavanagh and her only daughter live. They are of the very poorest degree, and their abode is a miserable cabin. The daughter can hardly be said to live, for since last New Year's day she has been lying speechless and lethargic, like one more dead than alive. The girl is described as being consumptive, although previous to the first of January she was in good health, a well-built and handsome young woman. Two of her brothers died of consumption.

Her present seizure, it is stated, was ushered in by prolonged hysterical fits, accompanied by delusions. On New Year's day she stiffened into a trance, which, with slight variations, has lasted up to the present. Though rigid, speechless, and (save for the respiration) motionless and corpse-like, she was able in the earlier weeks to stir a finger or twitch her eyelids when spoken to. Then the lethargy deepened into a state of absolute immobility lasting six weeks, during which not a morsel of food passed her lips. During the earlier and later remissions of the stupor it has been found possible to give her some little nourishment in a liquid form.

Transplanted Frog's Skin.

A curious operation, says the Hospital, has been reported to the French Ophthalmological society. A boy of 13, after an injury to his eyelid, had it so severely contracted that he could no longer close his eye. Accordingly an incision was made in the eyelid and tiny fragments of frog's skin were inserted in a kind of chequer work. It adhered perfectly, and the wound was completely healed over. After about five months the eyelid recovered its power of movement. A tiny transverse line across the lid is the only sign visible of the fragments borrowed from the frog.

Mathematical Combination Wonders.

If you want to know to what many depths mathematics can take you just begin to figure on combinations and keep it up industriously for an hour or two. One of the most wonderful examples in this line, perhaps, is that relating to the various combinations in dominoes. Dr. Bein, a Frankfurt, Germany, mathematician of international reputation, has calculated that two persons playing the game ten hours a day, and making four moves a minute, could continue 118,000,000 years without exhausting all the combinations of the game, a total of which is 248,528,211,840!

Stopping a Run.

The financial panic recalls the story of how the cashier of a bank in an iron-mill town stopped a run. He sent the janitor with a bushel of silver dollars into a rear-room where there was a stove, with instructions to "heat those silver dollars red hot." They were heated, and in that condition he handed them out with a coin-scooper. The depositors first grabbed the coin, then kicked. "But you'll have to take them that way," said the cashier. "We are turning them out as fast as we can melt and mold them, and if you won't wait until they cool, you'll have to take them hot." That settled it. The run was stopped.

A Name.

"Stebbins." The Stebbins family is fairly numerous. It is not now a classic name. Its owners wear it ignorantly. The more the shame for them. It is by right a classic name—borne as it was by the first Christian martyr—St. Steven. Sometimes spelled Stephen. Steven is the Dutch way of spelling it. Spell it in Spanish—Esteban. Drop the initial silent e—and then you have Steban. Among the ignorant the step to Stebbins is very short. And the honorable name of St. Steven takes on degradation, even as the fine old Norman-French name d'Anbaine becomes the homely Dobbin.

COMMENCES TONIGHT.

The Seventh Day Adventists' Annual Encampment.

The Seventh Day Adventists will hold their first service at their annual encampment at Forest park tonight, conducted by Elder W. S. Hyatt.

A visit to the grounds last night showed between 60 and 70 family tents already occupied, and each train today has brought other arrivals, while still others will put in an appearance up to and including tomorrow night.

The large tent where the services will be conducted, with a seating capacity of 1500, had the necessary seats supplied today, and everything is now in readiness for tonight's opening.

Elder Giddings informed the DEMOCRAT last night that 600 or 700 people were expected to be present by tomorrow night. Last year the attendance was more than 500, and it is believed it will be considerably larger this year.

Farmer Stebbins.

The realistic rural comedy drama, Old Farmer Stebbins, will be presented at Wood's opera house for one night only, Monday next, Sept. 18. The management promises many new and novel features since its production last season, when it was everywhere voted the best of the rural plays. The famous "Stebbins Tooters" will make their parade at noon.

A CARD!

TO THE PUBLIC:

Notwithstanding the general depression and the cry of "Hard Times," the volume of our business is increasing each day.

We attribute this fact—

1st. To an appreciative public, who know a good thing when they see it and are quick to take advantage of same.

2nd. That it was absolutely necessary for many manufacturers to sacrifice their productions to raise money, and as we were fortunate enough to have the "Spot Cash," we secured thousands of dollars worth of new and seasonable goods at much less than the actual cost of production and, we gave our trade the benefit of these bargains.

3rd. While others were cutting down stock—retrenching—we were loading on more largely each week, and the masses soon learned that to secure a prime selection it was necessary to visit our place of business.

:-: New Fall Goods! :-:

This week we are opening up a choice line of New Fall Goods, preparing to continue the good work. While it is our intention to continue closing our place of business at 6 p. m., it will be necessary that our entire force work each night this week, checking off and arranging goods they so can be placed on sale the day following. Come prepared to see the latest styles, the largest and most magnificent stock ever shown in Central Missouri, and the best values ever granted in the State.

With sincere thanks for past favors, and trusting that our efforts in the future will receive the recognition so kindly accorded in the past, we remain,

Very Truly,
Frank B. Meyer & Bro.

BACK FROM THE WEST.

Rev. Van Wagner and Wife Home From Colorado.

Rev. Allen J. Van Wagner and wife, former Sedalians, have returned to Creston, Iowa, their home, after a month's visit to Colorado, and the Castalian of that city says:

On Sabbath morning our pastor occupied his pulpit for the first time in a month, and it was a good sight to his people to see his familiar form even after so short an absence. The most beautiful flowers smiled their welcome all about him, while a magnificent bouquet of roses occupied his own private stand.

General pleasure is expressed over his improved appearance, and his eloquent sermon on the beauty and richness of a christian life testified to a renewed enthusiasm. Let us as church members rise up to our fullest privileges and duties and we shall all be richly blessed. The Castalian echoes the voice of the church in extending its "welcome home" to the pastor and his wife.

COL. T. P. HOY'S VISIT TO THE WORLD'S FAIR.

Thinks Better of Mankind in General Since His Arrival in Chicago.

Judge T. P. Hoy will return from Chicago not later than Monday next, as he states in a letter to Probate Clerk Walker, received yesterday. That the Judge is having a thoroughly enjoyable time is proven by the following extracts from his letter:

"This fair is a most wonderful thing. Although I had heard intelligent people speak of it, and had read much about it, I had no adequate conception of the beauty and grandeur of the buildings and grounds, much less of millions of things on exhibition.

"It is really worth the cost of the trip to view the buildings and grounds. Thursday there were 203,000 paid admissions and yesterday there were 236,000.

"The people are good-humored, polite and intelligent looking. I have heard of no broils, and have seen none intoxicated, though liquor can be had for the asking.

"I have seen very few who had grievances, and have seen less effort at display of fine clothing and exclusiveness than you will see at the Sedalia fair.

"This trip, thus far, has made me think better of my countrymen and women. All appear to meet upon a level. A governor is as agreeable and approachable as he is when a candidate for election.

"I have a comfortable room in the World's Fair North Entrance Hotel at $1.50 a day, without meals, but good rooms can be had for even less."

GERMAN DAY.

Arrangements For the Celebration Almost Completed.

The fifth annual celebration of German day in Sedalia, October 6th, gives every promise of being a memorable occasion.

The celebration will begin with a grand folksfest and open air concert from 1 to 6 p. m. in Association park. There will also be various games and amusements for young and old, with competition for prizes. All lovers of good music will be treated to a fine programme of excellent music by the famous Sedalia Military band, composed of sixteen thorough musicians. Admission to the park, free.

The celebration will conclude with the main feature, a grand concert and ball at Harmonie hall. The concert will be under the management of those proficient musicians, Messrs. Lenzen, Freimel and Schuppe. An elaborate programme of vocal and instrumental music, interspersed with recitations and an address of welcome by President Tesser of the executive committee, will form the evening's entertainment.

Reduced rates of one fare for the round trip have been guaranteed by the Missouri Pacific and M. & K. T. railways.

We do the biggest retail business of any store in the world in a city of 200,000 people.

The Fall Festivities

and gaities begin September 25. The Inter-State Fair and Priests of Pallas will surpass the splendid efforts of past years and will have much to interest the visitor. In addition to these attractions there will be another sight worth coming hundreds of miles to see,—our vast mercantile emporium, an exposition in itself with its seven spacious floors spreading from one block to another and taking into its scope 102 departments representing thousands upon thousands of kinds and qualities of goods needed by the people.

Pages would be required to tell you what's here. We can't tell you in this paper. We want you to come here and pay us a visit; get acquainted with our big store and its generous and modern methods of doing business.
